

Dyslexia and reading: some strategies

1. Read children's books frequently yourself and share your enjoyment of them.
2. Read to your learners.
3. Only recommend books of which you have personal knowledge.
4. Promote appropriate books continuously.

5. Have a small selection of books that work for learners with dyslexia displayed separately.
6. Get the same book in as many different formats as you can think of: paper, audio, electronic, graphic, abridged, film, TV, spoof.

7. Do not insist on written work once a book has been finished.
8. Do not make a reading scheme book the only one that an emerging reader is allowed to read.
9. Pace your learner through challenging books.
