Introduction to the Norfolk Dyslexia Friendly School Quality Mark Award

To become a dyslexia friendly school, the learner must be at the centre of any policy or practice in order to successfully ensure the needs of dyslexic pupils are being met in the school. The Norfolk Dyslexia Friendly School Quality Mark Award aims to provide a framework of support for schools to achieve this. The framework will help schools to:

- build capacity within their establishment so that all staff have a good knowledge and understanding of the individual needs of its dyslexic learners
- ensure that resources are available and systems in place to meet the needs of dyslexic learners within the school.

This will lead to an improvement in both achievement and self-esteem not just amongst dyslexic learners but for many more learners. Changing practice to accommodate dyslexic individuals results in good practice that benefits all learners.

Achieving the Norfolk Dyslexia Friendly School Quality Mark Award is a two year process and will demonstrate to learners, parents, staff and stakeholders that your school has the knowledge, understanding and resources to support dyslexic individuals.

The Quality Mark Award is comprised of standards that cover 7 key areas:

| Year 1  | Year 2                                      |  |
|---|---|--|
| Standard 1: Training and Knowledge                    | Standard 4: Policy                          |  |
| Standard 2: Identification, Assessment and Monitoring | Standard 5: Pupil Involvement               |  |
| Standard 3: Teaching and Learning                     | Standard 6: Working with Parents and Carers |  |
|   | Standard 7: The Environment                 |  |

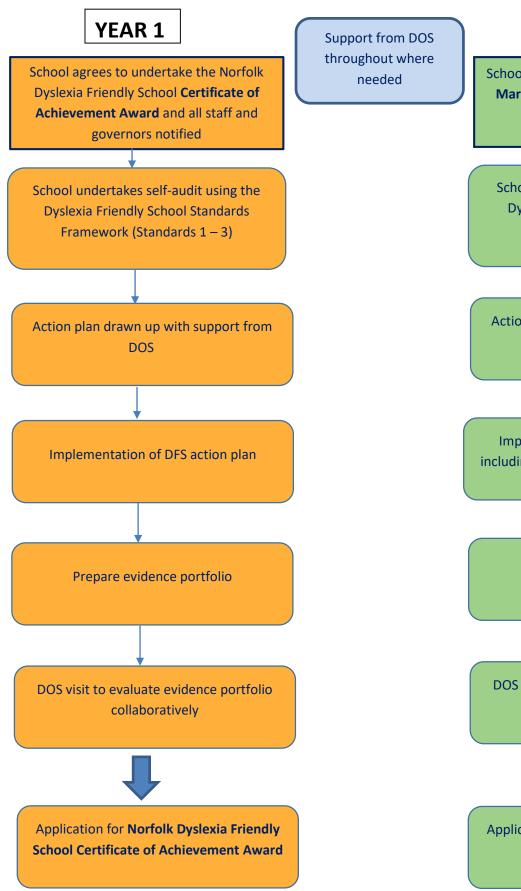

Standards 1-3 are provided in this folder together with guidance notes on how to achieve the standards. Alternatively, you can visit the DOS website at http://www.dyslexiaoutreach.co.uk to download a set. The supporting resources for each of the standards are also available to download from the website.

Standards 4 – 7 will be released to the school following successful completion of the Certificate of Achievement Award and on application for the full Norfolk Dyslexia Friendly School Quality Mark Award.

Essential requirements of the Norfolk Dyslexia Friendly School Quality Mark Award include:

- Whole school responsibility for supporting children with dyslexia
- Identifying a designated Dyslexia Champion who attends additional training and disseminates knowledge of best practice to staff within the school
- Informing all parents / carers of Quality Mark initiative
- Audit of current practice, with input from teachers, support staff, parents / carers and pupils
- Building an action plan to meet the standards which defines objectives, timescales and charts progress and which forms part of the cycle of planning for the school development
- Training and awareness raising for all staff
- Involving and empowering pupils
- A high profile for dyslexia friendly good practice
- Aspirations towards a dyslexia friendly school which are evident in school's ethos and policy documentation

Becoming a Dyslexia Friendly School: The Journey to Achieving the Standards

Year 1 Standards

Training and Knowledge

The whole school staff should receive training in basic dyslexia awareness to enable them to identify dyslexic type difficulties and to plan and deliver appropriate support for these pupils. Key staff, particularly the identified Dyslexia Champion should participate in further training to at least Level 3. Key staff, such as the SENCO or identified Dyslexia Champion, should ensure that this knowledge and awareness is a continual learning process and includes any necessary updating and training for current and new staff.

Identification, Assessment and Monitoring

Through awareness training, school policy and ethos, all teachers are confident in early identification of barriers to learning and respond appropriately and effectively to learners' needs at the earliest opportunity. There is an expectation that teachers monitor learning and take immediate action when learners fail to make progress, rather than refer for assessment and wait for a label.

If a pupil has dyslexia this may severely affect their ability to learn. The purpose of assessment is to help identify actions needed to overcome barriers to learning. This is an integral part of the teaching and learning process and is supported by information from parents / carers and other agencies.

Identification of dyslexia should follow the principles of the 'assess, plan, do, review' cycle advocated by the SEN Code of Practice 2014 and reflect national guidance that assessment for dyslexia should be a staged process. This model provides a framework which includes systems for planning and review, clear documentation and close parental and pupil involvement.

Teaching and Learning

Through awareness training, school policy and ethos, teachers are encouraged to look at dyslexia as a learning difference rather than learning difficulty and to celebrate learners' strengths. Barriers to learning are overcome through changes in methods, materials or approach and teachers adopt dyslexia friendly inclusive approaches.

Teachers employ flexible quality teaching and learning approaches within their classrooms and recognise and harness individual differences. Strengths are celebrated and used to scaffold learning.

Policy Pupil Involvement Pupil Involvement Parents and Carers H Norfolk Dyslexia Friendly School Quality Mark Award

Year 2 Standards

Policy

An effective SEN Information Report and Policy provides expectations of and guidance in good practice in relation to its dyslexic pupils. It clarifies and states the school's ethos, direction and commitment to supporting dyslexic pupils and sets out clearly the standard for any new staff or pupils coming into the school.

Pupil Involvement

Pupil involvement in the process is key. All children are given information about dyslexia appropriate to their age and level of understanding so there is a heightened awareness and understanding within the school.

Pupil involvement is encouraged in the journey of implementing, monitoring and evaluating dyslexic practices to embed them in the everyday running of their school.

Working with Parents and Carers

In a dyslexia friendly school good communication between the staff and parents/carers is essential for a child centred approach to dyslexia. Parents and carers will have an identified member of staff to communicate with regarding their concerns, and families should be kept informed of difficulties, support in place and progress made. It is, therefore, a priority for schools and settings to establish an effective partnership which promotes parental communication and encourages engagement.

The Environment

A dyslexia friendly school creates an environment which is welcoming and accessible to anyone with literacy difficulties, including pupils, staff, parents and other visitors. Signposting and display work around the school is clear and easy to read or interpret. Pupils operate in a consistently dyslexia friendly environment whether that is in the classroom, when moving around the school or visiting alternative rooms such as the school library or canteen.

COLLATING EVIDENCE

Listed below is a range of ideas to help you provide evidence for the portfolio. This list is by no means exhaustive.

Please note that should you choose to use samples of pupils' work or any data as evidence, all references to pupil, staff or any other individual's details must be anonymised.

- Photos
- Examples of pupils' work
- Printed evidence of school data/ tracking systems
- Case studies from SEN records
- Completed checklists (e.g. early identification checklists/ dyslexia friendly classroom checklists)
- Pupil Learning Plans (or IEPs, Pupil Support Plans etc)
- Examples of parent/ school correspondence
- Emails/ notes from telephone calls/ correspondence to staff/ parents
- Copies of lesson plans
- Examples of staff powerpoints/ teaching materials.
- Staff training records showing content and dates
- Minutes from staff meetings/ briefings
- Leaflets/ flyers produced
- Evidence of events held (e.g. parent workshops/ cafés)
- Copies of policies
- Paperwork linked to procedures
- Qualification certificates
- Notes from lesson observations

Where evidence is applicable across two or more standards, evidence only needs to be collected under one standard. Please still remember to reference where the evidence can be found in any additional relevant standard.

Supporting resources for each of the standards are also available to download from the DOS website at http://www.dyslexiaoutreach.co.uk
